

Kennedy Krieger School Programs for International Students with Special Needs

An Overview

Kennedy Krieger School Programs for International Students with Special Needs follows guidelines established by the Student and Exchange Visitor Program (SEVP), a division of the United States Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

At Kennedy Krieger School Programs, parents and caregivers will find a range of educational programs and services for children ages 5-21 with mild to severe special education needs. These programs and services are offered through our internationally recognized day school programs in Baltimore City and Montgomery County, Maryland.

The admissions officer works closely with international families seeking admission for their children. We make the process convenient and user-friendly, with Skype interviews, email communication, sharing of videos taken in the students' current homes/schools, and electronic exchange of important documents. Upon acceptance into one of our programs, Kennedy Krieger will issue a Certificate of Eligibility for Nonimmigrant (F-1) Student Status, also called Form I-20. The I-20 will allow families to apply for a student visa. Go to ice.gov/sevis/students for more information.

Policies and Procedures for Application and Enrollment

2. Completion of Parent Survey: Upon receipt of email, the parent must complete a comprehensive survey, which allows for a detailed description of the child's areas of strengths and needs. This survey gives the parent/guardian a chance to provide individualized information and indicate what goals they wish the child to achieve.

3. Documentation of Disability: The parent/guardian will be asked to send as many of the following documents as are available for Kennedy Krieger's review:

- Copy of passport with picture
- Proof of medical immunizations
- Medical evaluation documenting disability
- Educational and psychological reports, including, but not limited to:
 - Individualized Education Plan (IEP)
 - Cognitive assessment
 - Evaluation reports in areas such as educational achievement, functional behavior assessment, speech and language therapy, occupational therapy, etc.
 - Video clips that show the child in home, school, and community settings

4. Review Process: Our admissions officer will share the records with highly qualified special educators, psychologists, pediatricians, psychiatrists, and related services providers. After review, the specialists will sit as a transdisciplinary team to determine if your child may benefit from evidence-based interventions. If the team agrees, we will move on to the next step of the admissions process.

5. Family Interview: If the family is not able to interview in person, we can communicate via Skype or some other form of conference call. If an interview is conducted via teleconference, our staff also has the opportunity to observe your child in real time. The interview is crucial, as we are able to learn specifically what a child needs from the parents' perspective.

The interview is the last step in the application process.

Acceptance Package

1. Once your child has been accepted, the following procedures apply:

- A letter of acceptance will be sent electronically.
- Along with the letter of acceptance is a contract, which must be signed and returned.
- A parent must submit proof that sufficient funds are available to pay tuition monthly, by semester, or yearly.

2. I-20

Next, we issue the "Certificate of Eligibility for Nonimmigrant (F-1) Student Status," otherwise known as the I-20. This form allows you to apply for a student visa for your child. Please go to ice.gov/sevis/students to learn more about the visa process.
